

The FCC should not specify or mandate Digital Television copyright protection. Copyright protection, as proposed by the industry, will for all intents and purposes, forbid "fair use" as provided by copyright law. Forbidding fair use is contrary to the intent of copyright law, the constitutional basis of copyright, and the best interests of consumers.